THOUSANDS WENT OVER ROADS

RAILROADS DID A BIG BUSINESS ON DAY OF PARADE.

Oregon Short Line Sold 2339 Tickets Up to Noon Wednesday—Trains Going South Were on Time.

Local operating and passenger officials of the Harriman lines are jubilantly happy over the smoothly successful manner in which the vast crowds were handled yesterday between Ogden and Salt Lake. It is conservatively estimated that four thousand people attended the Grand Army exercises from this city, and of this large number nearly three thousand passengers are said to have been handled by the Oregon Short Line. Up to noon Wednesday 2339 tickets to Salt Lake had been sold at the depot. "This was one of the largest crowds we have ever handled between Ogden and Salt Lake," said Passenger Agent A. B. Moseley this morning, "and everything passed off without an unpleasant incident to mar the occasion—from a railroad man's point of view."

"This fact is due to the almost perfect arrangements made by the passenger and operating departments to move the multitude. There were forty-five extra passenger coaches and chair cars in service Wednesday between the two cities and Yardmaster Dick Pierce had these all arranged in different trains so they could be loaded easily early in the morning and gave every detail of arrangements his personal attention. As soon as one long passenger train was filled up with excursionists, another train of empty coaches rolled up to the passenger depot, and when these coaches were filled up and the train sent south, another train was ready to receive passengers—and so on until almost noon."

"In the ticket office Charley Henry and his staff were shoving out tickets to a string of people kept in line by passenger directors. And employees, and thousands of tickets were passed through the windows and money received for the same without an error of any description in making change."

"Depot Master Shields and an extra force of passenger directors and employees kept the great throng moving from the waiting rooms to the different trains and here, as elsewhere, no unpleasant incidents occurred during the day."

"The trainmen and conductors are also entitled to complimentary consideration for the kindly and pleasant manner in which the multitude was handled at the depot and after the trains rolled out for the south."

"Altogether it was a nice piece of railroad passenger work and very naturally both passenger and operating officials feel in the batting each other on the back over the manner in which all the plans were carried out so smoothly."

AUDITORIUM PURCHASED; HUDSON AVENUE OPENING

J. T. HURST BACK OF A DEAL WHICH IS TO TRANSFORM THE BUSINESS DISTRICT OF OGDEN—DEPARTMENT STORE ON NEW STREET—MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

J. T. Hurst has purchased the Auditorium skating rink building from Phil O'Mara and the ground on which the building stands from Fred J. Kiesel. Some time ago he read a small "ad" in the Standard, offering the Auditorium for sale and he immediately set about to obtain the property, with the result that the deal was closed yesterday and the building is now in the possession of Mr. Hurst. This transfer means the opening of Hudson avenue through the center of the block, from Twenty-fourth street to Twenty-fifth street, and the converting of the old skating rink, which is 86 feet by 210 feet, into a department store. In cutting through the avenue, ten feet of the east end of the Auditorium will be torn down and a modern front put in. Mr. Hurst's purchase includes the present entrance to the Auditorium from the Grant avenue side. Hudson avenue is to be 60 feet wide, and will call for the demolishing of a number of buildings on Twenty-fifth and Twenty-fourth streets, among them the Kiesel stores occupied by a millinery and brokerage house, the Tribe liquor house, Adam Farber barbershop and part of the building occupied by Prouditt, all on Twenty-fourth street, and the Tea store, McKenna saloon, Simpson Cafe and Carl Sorensen building on Twenty-fifth street.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR IS NOW ASSURED

J. C. NYE IN CHARGE OF "DEPARTMENT A," FOUR-STATE FAIR.

He Says the Crops Are Good and the Agricultural Exhibit Will Be Most Attractive.

J. C. Nye, who is supervisor of "Department A" of the Inter-Mountain Four-State fair, which includes the displays of grain and seed, vegetables, root crops, sugar beets, forage crops and sheep exhibits and bees, said this morning that he anticipates a big showing in his department.

"This department will occupy one of the largest exhibit spaces at the fair, and from present indications we will have none too much room," said Mr. Nye.

"The outlook for bumper crops is good this year, and that means that the displays will be large and attractive. The grains ought to show up well, and they will be a big feature of this department."

"We plan to decorate quite extensively in grains. There is nothing that pleases the farmer more than to see samples of good crops, and we hope to give the fair visitors their money's worth, and more."

"The vegetable crops are all right, too. We will have an excellent showing of sugar beets as well."

"It seems to me that great interest is being shown in the coming fair, and I am sure it will be the best thing of the kind we have ever had. It will be a fine thing for Ogden, and I am glad to see the people taking hold of it."

MARRIAGES

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to John C. Gager and Florence H. Jay, both residents of Ogden. Immediately after securing the document the blushing young couple, accompanied by several friends, stepped into the county clerk's private office and were married by Elder John V. Bluth.

ON FOOD

The Right Foundation of Health.

Proper food is the foundation of health. People eat improper food for a time until there is a sudden collapse of the digestive organs, then all kinds of trouble follows.

The proper way out of the difficulty is to shift to the pure, scientific food, Grape-Nuts, for it rebuilds from the foundation up. A New Hampshire woman says:

"Last summer I was suddenly taken with indigestion and severe stomach trouble and could not eat food without great pain. My stomach was so sore I could hardly move about. This kept up until I was so miserable life was not worth living."

"Then a friend finally, after much argument, induced me to quit my former diet and try Grape-Nuts."

"Although I had but little faith I was surprised to find that I could eat without the usual pain and distress in my stomach."

"So I kept on using Grape-Nuts and soon a marked improvement was shown, for my stomach was performing its regular work in a normal way without pain or distress."

"Very soon the yellow coating disappeared from my tongue, the dull, heavy feeling in my head disappeared and my mind felt light and clear; the languid, tired feeling left, and altogether I felt as if I had been rebuilt. Strength and weight came back rapidly and I went back to my work with renewed alacrity."

"Today I am a new woman in mind as well as body and I owe it all to this natural food, Grape-Nuts."

"There's a reason."

"Look in Pkgs. for the famous Little Book, 'The Road to Wellville.'"

PROMINENT RAILROAD MEN

MADE AN INSPECTION TRIP THROUGH THE YARDS.

W. V. S. Thorne, General Purchasing Agent of the Harriman System, is One of the Visitors.

W. V. S. Thorne, general purchasing agent of the Harriman system, with headquarters in New York City, I. O. Rhodes, general purchasing agent of the Southern Pacific, H. C. Pierce, general storekeeper of the Southern Pacific at San Francisco, Colonel Finley, of the purchasing department of the Harriman lines in Mexico, and several railroad officials of the Harriman lines, in the west, arrived from the east in the private car "Sacramento" yesterday and, under the escort of Local Storekeeper R. B. Porter, made a thorough inspection of the Ogden department. They viewed the location of the new Southern Pacific storehouse buildings to be erected here this season, went over the plans in detail and incidentally inspected the different sites under consideration for the new freight depot.

They were eminently pleased with their inspection of the store department at Ogden and continued on to the coast over the Southern Pacific line.

BABY KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

MOTHER HORRIFIED WHEN SHE FINDS THE BODY.

Little Anna Cook, Eighteen Months Old, Wanders From Home and Is Crushed to Death.

When Mrs. J. H. Cook ran to the Southern Pacific railroad tracks, about a half a block from her home, about 7 o'clock last evening, in search of her eighteen-months-old daughter, Anna, she was horrified to find the mangled body of the child lying on the tracks, with the head and one arm completely severed from the body.

"My God!" screamed the mother in anguish, and sobbing bitterly, she picked the child up in her arms and started for the home of her father, J. F. Martin, on West Seventeenth street, where she resides.

Tired of playing about the yard, little Anna ran into the house, jumped into her mother's lap, and asked to go to sleep. The mother took off the child's shoes, carried her into the bedroom, placed her on the bed, kissed her, and then went into the yard to look after some work which she had been doing, intending to go back to the house in a few minutes and finish undressing her little daughter.

The mother had only been outdoors a short time when Anna awoke, and not seeing anyone around, she walked out of the house, unattended the front gate and went up the street in the direction of the railroad tracks.

After finishing her work, Mrs. Cook went to the bedroom, and was alarmed to find that the child was not there. Not finding the little girl in the yard, she went to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Martin, to aid her in the search, and they started in the direction which they supposed little Anna might have gone.

The little girl, in the meantime, had reached the railroad tracks, where, it is supposed, a Southern Pacific freight train which was passing struck and killed her. No one saw the accident.

It was only a brief time after this that the mother was confronted by the gruesome spectacle.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of J. F. Martin on West Seventeenth street. Rev. J. E. Carver will have charge of the services.

BLERIOT MAY COME WEST.

Seattle, Aug. 11.—Louis Blériot, the French aviator, has asked the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, through his agent, for an offer for an exhibit tion with the aeroplane in which he made his famous flight across the English channel. The exposition management in reply asked Blériot for terms. The exhibition has made an appropriation of $25,000 for a contest between Blériot and the Wright brothers, but the latter have not accepted.

THE ELLERY BAND.

The Ellery band which will play at the Orpheum theater, formerly the Grand Opera house, Friday night, has made a big hit every place it has played. It is drawing great crowds to Saltair this week and in Denver. It was the season's sensation. The Denver Republican said of it:

Many traveling musical organizations have given concerts before Denver audiences, but the entertainment furnished yesterday afternoon at the Auditorium, according to the remarks made after the concert, far eclipsed anything of the kind ever given in Denver before.

Every member of the band is a polished musician and the manner in which they played yesterday demonstrated that Prof. Ellery has a wonderful leading and constructive power.

The selection which made the decided hit of the afternoon was the second Hungarian rhapsody. In speaking of the work of his musicians, Prof. Ellery said: "Never before has my band played so well. They really surprised me with the way they handled their selections."

"I think the greater part of the credit for our success yesterday goes to the audience. The people were so sympathetic and appreciative that my men acquired their spirit and they instilled it into their playing."

Tickets are now on sale. The prices range from 15 cents in the gallery to $1 in the boxes. This is the first time the band has ever played here at popular prices. The concert will begin at 8:30 p. m.

The vaudeville season will open Sunday night. A splendid bill is promised. Tickets are now on sale.

OGDEN TAKES PART IN BIG PARADE

SOLDIERS AND BANDS WERE CHEERED BY THE CROWDS.

Commander-in-Chief, Nevius, Pleased With Excellent Showing of the Dix-Logan Post of Ogden.

Henry M. Nevius, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., "Ogden was well represented in Salt Lake today. The citizens of that place may well be proud of the excellent showing made by the Dix-Logan post and the Auditorium band."

Fisher Harris, secretary of the Salt Lake Commercial club—"We all enjoyed the music of the bands from Ogden. They added much to the pleasure of the day."

James Ripton, Deseret News—"I have heard many of the newspaper boys say nice things of the Auditorium band. The old soldiers from Ogden showed up fine, too."

F. V. Fitzgerald, Salt Lake Herald—"When the Elks were entertained in Los Angeles, we had plenty of music by some of the best bands in the country, but they will have to go some to beat that red-capped Ogden bunch that played here today."

George H. Davis, chairman of music committee, Ogden—"The cheers all along the line of march for the Ogden delegation in the parade in Salt Lake yesterday are evidence enough that the people thought well of our post and band."

Marching behind the stirring music of the Auditorium band, which played almost continuously during the parade in Salt Lake yesterday, the Dix-Logan post and the Spanish War veterans of Ogden were cheered and cheered, and cheered again, by the thousands of interested spectators who lined the street along the route of one of the best pageants in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Dix-Logan post was as well represented as any post in the parade, and had more men in line than some entire departments. The Ogden veterans received a warm reception as they proudly marched behind the flag carried by Col. J. V. Nelson, whose face beamed with happiness as he bowed right and left, acknowledging the cheers of the assembled thousands.

The Auditorium band received its share of attention, too. The white coats and red hats which were worn by this organization of musicians, could be seen away down the street, and the people had an enthusiastic "What's the matter with Ogden," ready when the players marched by. From the time this band arrived in Salt Lake until after the parade, it played nearly all of the time. One old soldier said it was the best music to march to he heard all day.

In the afternoon the Auditorium band played a number of selections on the corner of Third South and Main streets. The windows of the buildings were filled with listeners, many of them women. After the band had played a number that seemed to please everybody in particular, and while the crowds were clamoring for more, a hundred small bouquets of flowers descended from the windows above and showered the musicians.

The music of the Industrial School Boys' band also created much enthusiasm along the line of march in the big parade. This band was one of the first to appear on the street while the parade was forming, and as the young musicians marched up Main street, playing a lively air, shouts of appreciation came from those who were waiting anxiously for the procession to start.

ORPHEUM IS A PLACE OF BEAUTY

NEW THEATER HAS ITS OPENING NIGHT ON FRIDAY.

Grand Opera House Remodeled at an Expenditure of Over $30,000—New Scenery and Curtains.

The finishing touches will be given at the Orpheum theater this afternoon, and then everything will be in readiness for the opening of this amusement house Friday evening. Ellery's Italian band will be the opening attraction.

The remodeling of the old Grand Opera House into a modern theater, one of the finest in the west, has meant an expenditure of over $30,000. The old building has been overhauled and made modern from basement to top. The stage has been entirely rebuilt and enlarged, and a new sounding board and boxes put in. Instead of one center aisle on the first floor of the theater, two aisles have been arranged with two other aisles along the sides of the house.

The building has been made into a fire-proof theater, with its new asbestos curtain, numerous exits, and large new switch board, the wires to and from which run through conduits, preventing the various parts of the structure from coming in contact with the wires which carry the electric current.

The switch board is an interesting feature of the Orpheum. It is almost as large as the switch boards in some electric light plants in small cities, and has hundreds of peculiarly shaped knobs and handles attached to it. It will be in charge of an expert, who has handled the lights in theaters in some of the largest cities.

Down stairs the dressing rooms, which are much larger than those found in most theaters, have been rebuilt to suit the convenience of the "actor folks." There will be no necessity of the entire company trying to dress in one room in the Orpheum as

Jelly Glasses

—not the common kind—these have smooth tops—are made of clear glass.—just like the drinking tumblers—are used for that purpose when not filled.

Sale Price 22c Set WRIGHTS

they have to do sometimes in small towns, because there is room for everybody.

Dainty color effects mark the decorations of the new theater. No work of brush has been left undone to make this a place of beauty. The house is attractive. There is nothing to tire the eye in its entire arrangement.

New scenery and curtains have been painted for the stage. The curtains are really a work of art, and the "sets" have a color note of their own—not the brilliancy to be seen on some stages, but a marked degree of taste and refined beauty.

Taking it all in all, the Orpheum will not only delight its patrons, but it will surprise them. The house and its equipment is far superior to the theaters of many larger places. It is, without a doubt, one of the handsomest theaters in the country.

The Master Horsehoofers' and Blacksmiths' association will hold their annual outing to Lagoon next Saturday. These shops will be all day.
